Date of Pronouncement : 24 . 07 . 2024

O R D E R

Per : Satbeer Singh Godara, Judicial Member:

This assessee's appeal for assessment year 2025-26 arises against the CIT(Exemptions), Mumbai's DIN & notice No.ITBA/EXM/F/EXM45/2023-24/1062634865(1) dated 14.03.2024, in proceedings under section 80G(5) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 (in short 'the Act').

2. Case called twice. None appears at assessee's behest. It is accordingly proceeded ex-parte.

3. The assessee pleads the following substantive grounds in the instant appeal:

"1) The appellant submit that on the facts and in the circumstances of the case and in law, the honourable Commissioner of Income Tax Exemption, Mumbai erred in rejecting the application for exemption u/s 80G(5) made by the appellant trust without granting personal hearing before rejecting the application.

2) On the facts and in the circumstances of the case and in law the honorable Commissioner of Income Tax Exemption, Mumbai erred in summarily rejecting the application holding that the assessee is not fulfilling the stipulated conditions prescribed for filling application for approval in Form 10AB within the prescribed time limit and ignoring the facts and circumstances of the case therein infact the activities of the trust are genuine and it is satisfying all the conditions of registration u/s 80G(5) of the Income Tax Act, 1961.

3) The appellant craves to add, alter, amend or modify all or any of the ground of appeal."

4. Learned CIT-DR next invited our attention to the CIT(E) impugned findings denying section 80G(5) registration to the assessee as under:

"1. M/s SOU Dwarkabai Shastri Patwardhan Trust [hereafter 'the applicant' or 'the assessee'] filed application in Form 10AB under section 80G of the Act. The application has been granted Provisional Approval under section 80G(5) of the Act in Form 10AC by CPC Bengaluru.

2. Under the relevant clause (iii) of the First Proviso to sub-section(5) of Section 80G of the Act, an applicant has to make an application in the prescribed format and manner in the following scenario:

"where the institution or fund has been provisionally approved, at least six months prior to expiry of the period of the provisional approval or within six months of commencement of its activities, whichever is earlier."

3. On verification of the facts and circumstances of the case, it is found that the assessée has started activity before the receipt of provisional registration. In view of this the assessee has to filed Form 10AB, six month from the date of provisional approval i.e. April 2022, while the assessee have filed Form 10AB of 80G on 27.09.2023. As such, the assessee is not fulfilling the stipulated conditions prescribed for filing application for approval in Form 10AB.

In view of the same, this application for grant of approval is not maintainable and the same is rejected.

4. For statistical purposes, this application for approval under section 80G is non-maintainable and stands rejected.”

5. Mr. Dhule vehemently argued in light of the above extracted detailed discussion that the learned CIT(E) herein has rightly invoked section 80G(5) 1st proviso clause (iii) of the Act to treat the corresponding assessee's registration application as time barred. We note in this factual backdrop that the learned CIT(E) himself is indeed very fair that the assessee had commenced its charitable activities well before the filing of provisional registration. It prima-facie appears to be an “old” trust in other words. We thus note that the question as to whether such an application filed by an “old” trust could be rejected for want of limitation is found to be no more res-integra in light of Lulla Charitable Foundation vs. CIT(E) ITA No.1220/Pune/2023 dated 05.01.2024 rejecting the Revenue's stand as follows:

“4. Thus, the only limited question before us is whether the application of the assessee was time barred or not?

To decide this question, we have to first understand therelevant statutory provisions of the Income Tax Act.

4.1 The relevant part of Section 80G(5) of the Income tax Actis reproduced here as under :

80G. (1) In computing the total income of an assessee, there shall be deducted, in accordance with and subject to the provisions of this section,—

CIT(E) held it to be time barred.*

New Procedure for registration:

6. The new provision for Registration was introduced by Finance Act, 2020. There was amendment in the registration procedure by Finance Act, 2020. For the first time the Finance Act, 2020 introduced the concept of “Provisional Approval”. Also due to the amendment, all the existing Trust/Institutions which were already having registration u/s 12AA or 80G(5) were asked to re-apply for registration as per the amendment brought in 2020 and a date was specified before which all those Trust/Institutions already having Registration was required to make a fresh application as per the amendment procedure.

7. In this background we have to interpret the relevant provisions. To interpret the provisions, we shall refer to the Budget Speech of the Hon’ble Finance Minister.

7.1 The Hon’ble Supreme Court in the case of K P Varghese Vs. ITO [1981] 131 ITR 597 (SC) has observed as under regarding use of Speech of a Minister as a tool in interpretation:

Quote , “ Now it is true that the speeches made by the Members of the Legislature on the floor of the House when a Bill for enacting a statutory provision is being debated are inadmissible for the purpose of interpreting the statutory provision but the speech made by the mover of the Bill explaining the reason for the introduction of the Bill can certainly be referred to for the purpose of ascertaining the mischief sought to be remedied by the legislation and the object and purpose for which the legislation is enacted. This is an accord with the recent trend in juristic thought not only in western countries but also in India that interpretation of a statute being an exercise in the ascertainment of meaning, everything which is logically relevant should be admissible. In fact there are at least three decisions of this Court, one in Sole Trustee, Loka Shikshana Trust v. CIT [1975] 101 ITR 234, the other in Indian Chamber of Commerce v. CIT [1975] 101 ITR 796 and the third in Addl. CIT v. Surat Art Silk Cloth Manufacturers Association [1980] 121 ITR 1/[1980] 2 Taxman 501, where the speech made by the Finance Minister, while introducing the exclusionary clause in section 2(15) of the Act, was relied upon by the Court for the purpose of ascertaining what was the reason for introducing that clause.”

7.2 The Hon’ble Supreme Court has approved use of the Hon’ble Minister’s speech as tool of interpretation to understand the intent of the Statute.

Extract of relevant part of Speech of Hon’ble Finance Minister:

8. The Hon’ble Finance Minister in Budget Speech 2020 has said as under :

Quote “In order to simplify the compliance for the new and existing charity institutions, I propose to make the process of registration completely electronic under which a unique registration number (URN) shall be issued to all new and existing charity institutions. Further, to facilitate the registration of the new charity institution which is yet to start their charitable activities, I propose to allow them provisional registration for three years.” Unquote.

Finance Bill 2020 :

“(vi) an entity making fresh application for approval under clause (23C) of section 10, for registration under section 12AA, for approval under section 80G shall be provisionally approved or registered for three years on the basis of application without detailed enquiry even in the cases where activities of the entity are yet to begin and then it has to apply again for approval or registration which, if granted, shall be valid from the date of such provisional registration. The application of registration subsequent to provisional registration should be at least six months prior to expiry of provisional registration or within six months of start of activities, whichever is earlier”

9. Thus, these amendments were introduced to simply the procedure of registration of Charitable Trusts/Institutions. The amendment made to simplify a procedure cannot be interpreted in a way that it causes prejudice to the Trust/institutions.

10. Thus, when we read the Budget Speech of the Hon'ble Finance Minister 2020 and the Memorandum of Finance Bill, 2020 together, it becomes clear that the concept of Provisional registration was mainly to facilitate the registration of newly formed Trust/Institutions which have not yet begun the activities. The parliament in its wisdom has decided to differentiate between the Trust which were newly formed and the trust which were already doing charitable activities. In the second category of cases, there are again two possibilities, one trust was already doing charitable activities and was already having Registration u/s 12AA or 80G(5) of the Act, such trust were directed to re- apply for registration under new procedure on or before 30th August, 2020 but due to Covid-19 this date was subsequently extended. There is Second category of trust/institutions which were already doing Charitable Activities but had never applied for registration u/s.80G(5) of the Act. It is not mandatory that every charitable trust/institution has to apply for registration u/s.80G(5) of the Act. However, there is no bar in the Act that such trust or institutions cannot apply for registration u/s.80G in the new procedure. In these kinds of cases, the Trust/Institute though doing charitable activity may apply first for the 'Provisional Registration 'under the Act. After getting the Provisional Registration the Trust/Institution have to apply for Regular Registration. These kind of Trust/Institutes will fall under sub clause (iii) of the Proviso to Section 80G(5) of the Act, since they have obtained Provisional registration.

10.1. In this background, we need to read the sub-clause (iii) of the Proviso to Section 80G(5) of the Act. For ready reference it is again reproduced here under :

“iii) where the institution or fund has been provisionally approved, at least six months prior to expiry of the period of the provisional approval or within six months of commencement of its activities, whichever is earlier”

10.2 The sub-clause says that the Institution which have provisional registration have to apply at-least six months prior to expiry of the provisional registration or within Six months of commencement of activities, whichever is earlier.

10.3 In continuation of this when we read the ‘sub clause iii of Proviso’ of section 80G(5), which we have already reproduced above, it is clear that the intention of parliament in putting the word “or within six months of commencement of its activities, whichever is earlier” is in the context of the newly formed Trust/institutions. For the existing Trust/Institution, the time limit for applying for Regular Registration is within six months of expiry of Provisional registration if they are applying under sub clause (iii) of the Proviso to Section 80G(5) of the Act. This will be the harmonious interpretation.

11. If we agree with the interpretation of the Id.CIT(E), then say a trust which was formed in the year 2000, performed charitable activities since 2000, but did not applied for registration u/s.80G, the said trust will never be able to apply for registration now. This in our opinion is not the intention of the legislation. This interpretation leads to absurd situation.

11.1 In this context, we will like to refer to observations of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of K P Varghase(supra), where in Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under :

Quote, "It is a well-recognised rule of construction that a statutory provision must be so construed, if possible, that absurdity and mischief may be avoided. There are many situations where the construction suggested on behalf of the revenue would lead to a wholly unreasonable result which could never have been intended by the Legislature. Take, for example, a case where A agrees to sell his property to B for a certain price and before the sale is completed pursuant to the agreement and it is quite well known that sometimes the completion of the sale may take place even a couple of years after the date of the agreement - the market price shoots up with the result that the market price prevailing on the date of the sale exceeds the agreed price at which the property is sold by more than 15 per cent of such agreed price. This is not at all an uncommon case in an economy of rising prices and in fact we would find in a large number of cases where the sale is completed more than a year or two after the date of the agreement that the market price prevailing on the date of the sale is very much more than the price at which the property is sold under the agreement. Can it be contended with any degree of fairness and justice that in such cases, where there is clearly no understatement of consideration in respect of the transfer and the transaction is perfectly honest and bona fide and, in fact, in fulfilment of a contractual obligation, the assessee who has sold the property should be liable to pay tax on capital gains which have not accrued or arisen to him. It would indeed be most harsh and inequitable to tax the assessee on income which has neither arisen to him nor is received by him, merely because he has carried out the contractual obligation undertaken by him. It is difficult to conceive of any rational reason why the Legislature should have thought it fit to impose liability to tax on an assessee who is bound by law to carry out his contractual obligation to sell the property at the agreed price and honestly carries out such contractual obligation. It would indeed be strange if obedience to the law should attract the levy of tax on income which has neither arisen to the assessee nor has been received by him. If we may take another illustration, let us consider a case where A sells his property to B with a stipulation that after sometime, which may be a couple of years or more, he shall resell the property to A for the same price. Could it be contended in such a case that when B transfers the property to A for the same price at which he originally purchased it, he should be liable to pay tax on the basis as if he has received the market value of the property as on the date of resale, if, in the mean-while, the market price has shot up and exceeds the agreed price by more than 15 per cent. Many other similar situations can be contemplated where it would be absurd and unreasonable to apply section 52(2) according to its strict literal construction. We must, therefore, eschew literalness in the interpretation of section 52(2) and try to arrive at an interpretation which avoids this absurdity and mischief and makes the provision rational and sensible, unless of course, our hands are tied and we cannot find any escape from the tyranny of the literal interpretation. It is now a well-settled rule of construction that where the plain literal interpretation of a statutory provision produces a manifestly absurd and unjust result which could never have been intended by the Legislature, the Court may modify the language used by the Legislature or even 'do some violence' to it, so as to achieve the obvious intention of the Legislature and produce a rational construction -” Unquote.

11.2 Thus, as observed by the Hon’ble Supreme Court, that the statutory provision shall be interpreted in such a way to avoid absurdity. In this case to avoid the absurdity as discussed by us in earlier paragraph, we are of the opinion that the words, “within six months of commencement of its activities” has to be interpreted that it applies for those trusts/institutions which have not started charitable activities at the time of obtaining Provisional registration, and not for those trust/institutions which have already started charitable activities before obtaining Provisional Registration. We derive the strength from the Speech of the Hon’ble Finance Minister and the Memorandum of Finance Bill, 2020.

11.3 Therefore, in these facts and circumstances of the case, we hold that the Assessee Trust had applied for registration within the time allowed under the Act. Hence, the application of the assessee is valid and maintainable.”

6. We adopt the foregoing discussion mutatis mutandis to accept the assessee’s instant sole substantive grievance in principle and restore the matter back to the learned CIT(E) for his afresh appropriate adjudication on merits as per law.

Ordered accordingly.

7. This assessee's appeal is allowed for statistical purposes in above terms.
