आदेश / ORDERPER PARTHA SARATHI CHAUDHURY, JM

The captioned appeal preferred by the assessee emanates from the order of the Ld.CIT(A)/NFAC, Delhi dated 29.10.2024 for the assessment year 2014-15 as per the grounds of appeal on record.

2. At the outset, this appeal is time barred by 238 days and in this regard, Ld. Counsel for the assessee had submitted a condonation petition along with an affidavit of the assessee. The relevant paragraphs of the said affidavit are extracted as follows:

partic on 29/10/2024 concerning the appeal.

5. That all the hearing notices and order u/s.250 was sent to the e-mail "alokjanjgir50@gmail.com" which belongs to my erstwhile tax consultant Shri Alok Janjgir, and the same was not brought to my knowledge at the relevant time.

6. That I was under the bona fide belief that the tax consultant was making due compliances. Subsequently upon enquiring about the status of the appeal on 07/08/2025, he checked the e-filing portal and informed me regarding passing of order under section 250 of the Act. On being so informed, I approached the current counsel and filed the present appeal on 27/08/2025 in the shortest possible time.
7. That considering date of passing of order u/s. 250, there will be a delay of 238 days in filing the appeal, hence I am filing present application for condonation of delay.
8. That in view of facts and circumstances, it is humbly submitted that the delay occurred, due to circumstances beyond my control and I am filing the present appeal with prayer for condonation of delay considering the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case.
9. That in connection with settled principle/legal precedents, I rely on the following cases:-
 - (a) Shri Vidya Shankar Jaiswal vs. ITO, Ward-2, Ambikapur (Civil Appeal No.____/2025) [Special Leave Petition (Civil) Nos. 26310- 26311/2024] dated 31/01/2025.
 - (b) Pradeep Kumar Khandelwal, Raipur vs. Income-tax Officer-1(1), Raipur (TAX Case No.166/2024), Chhattisgarh High court.
 - (c) Navodit Samaj Sevi Sansthan vs ITO (TAXC No. 225/2024), where delay caused due to wrong legal advice was held to be a sufficient cause for condonation.
10. That as per my understanding there are fair chances of substantial relief in further appeal.
11. That in view of above facts and circumstances it is humbly prayed that the Hon'ble Tribunal may be pleased to condone the delay and admit the appeal for adjudication in the interest of justice.
12. This affidavit is being sworn with prayer for condonation of delay in filing appeal before Hon'ble Income-tax Appellate Tribunal, Raipur Bench, Raipur.

3. Ld. Sr. DR has also not challenged the condonation petition and has fairly conceded to the contents therein. That on careful perusal of the said condonation petition along with affidavit and on hearing the submissions of the parties, it is crystal clear that the said ordinate delay of 238 days regarding filing of the appeal before the Tribunal is due to the circumstances and lack of timely professional assistance to the assessee. Nothing has been brought on record to suggest any malafide and deliberate conduct for causing such delay on the part of the assessee. Considering the following judicial pronouncements: (i) Vidya Shankar Jaiswal Vs. ITO, Ward-2, Ambikapur, Civil Appeal Nos...../2025 [Special Leave Petition (Civil) Nos. 26310-26311/2024], dated 31.01.2025 passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court. (ii) Jagdish Prasad Singhania Vs. Additional Commissioner of Income Tax (TDS), Raipur (C.G.), Tax Case No.17/2025, dated 24.02.2025, passed by Hon'ble High Court of Chhattisgarh. (iii) Inder Singh Vs. The State of Madhya Pradesh, Civil Appeal No...../2025, Special Leave Petition (Civil) No.6145 of 2024, dated 21st March, 2025 passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, I hereby, condone the delay of 238 days and proceed to hear the matter on merits.

4. That even before going into the merits of the matter on perusal of order of the Ld. CIT(A)/NFAC at para 4, it is evident that inspite of reasonable opportunities of hearing given to the assessee, there was no submissions filed and hence an ex-parte order was passed by the Ld. CIT(A)/NFAC.

5. That since, the Income-tax Act is within the ambit of welfare legislation, which is totally different from penal legislation and since, there is no evidence on record to suggest any malafide or deliberate conduct on the part of the assessee for not complying with the hearing notices, in such scenario, benefit of doubt travels in favour of the taxpayer assessee. That the said assessee may have been prevented from sufficient cause for not uploading his submissions/evidences. That in absence of any negative finding on the conduct of the assessee by the Department, the non-compliance before the Ld. CIT(A)/NFAC cannot be attributed to any malafide conduct on the part of the assessee. The principles of substantive justice demands that final opportunity should be given to the assessee to contest the case on merits before the CIT(A)/NFAC and in this regard, I would refer to the decision of the ITAT, "Division Bench", Raipur in the cases of Brajesh Singh Bhadoria Vs. Dy./ACIT, Central Circle-2, Naya Raipur, IT(SS)A Nos. 1 to 6, 8 & 9/RPR/2025, dated 20.03.2025, in which, on the same parameters of an ex-parte order passed by the Ld. CIT(A)/NFAC being remanded back to its file providing final opportunity to the assessee. The relevant paras are extracted as follows:

"7. We have considered the submissions of the parties herein and analyzed the facts and circumstances involved in all the captioned appeals. After careful perusal of the documents on record, we find that the assessee had assailed the legal ground as aforestated, however, the fact of the matter is that on perusal of the respective orders of the Ld. CIT(Appeals) for all the years before us, it is also evident from Para 3 that there has been no compliance by the assessee before the said authority and as such, an ex-parte order was passed for the concerned years in appeal. Admittedly, as per record, sufficient opportunities had been provided to the assessee, however, there was no compliance by the assessee. In effect, rights and liabilities of the parties herein are yet to be adjudicated substantially at the level of the first appellate authority. Though in the impugned orders, discussion has been done as per material available on record by the Ld.CIT(Appeals) but they are only Form 35, statement of facts, grounds of appeal and the assessment order. However, due to non-compliance by the assessee, there are no submissions, evidence and documents submitted for adjudication by the assessee before the Ld. CIT(Appeals). That as per Para 3 of the Ld. CIT(Appeals) order, there has been no compliance on the part of the assessee for submitting detailed explanations regarding the grounds of appeal for the years under consideration which clearly shows that the grounds of appeal raised before the first appellate authority has not been substantiated on merits through corroborative evidence /submissions.

8. That in such scenario we are of the considered view that the Income tax Act is within the ambit of welfare legislation which are completely different from that of the penal legislation, therefore, benefit of doubt whenever arises, it has to be interpreted in favour of the assessee tax payer within the parameters of law and facts. There may be circumstances beyond control of the assessee because of which, the assessee may not have been able to represent his case on the given dates of hearing before the Ld. CIT(Appeals). Though it is correct that there was no compliance from the side of the assessee, however, nothing is there on record which suggests any deliberate non-compliance or malafide conduct of the assessee. That further, if one final opportunity is provided to the assessee to represent his case before the first appellate authority, the position of the revenue will also not be jeopardized.

9. Recently, the Hon'ble High Court of Bombay in the case of Vijay Shrinivasrao Kulkarni Vs. Income-tax Appellate Tribunal (2025) 171 taxmann.com 696 (Bom.), dated 04.02.2025 observed that in the case the Assessing Officer had passed an ex-parte order and when the matter went on appeal before the Ld. CIT(Appeals)/NFAC, it had also dismissed the matter ex-parte due to non-compliance by the assessee's authorized representative, when the matter came up before the ITAT, it had failed to address the infirmity regarding the fact that the assessee was not afforded proper opportunity of being heard and the matter was dismissed ex-parte by the Ld. CIT(Appeals)/NFAC which amounted to violation of principles of natural justice, and instead ITAT decided the case on merits, in such circumstances, the Hon'ble High Court of Bombay held that passing of an order on merits by the ITAT even when the impugned order was passed ex-parte amounts to violation of principles of natural justice and accordingly, the said matter was remanded to ITAT for passing a fresh order in accordance with law after hearing the parties. The legal principle as enshrined in the present judgment is crystal clear that the principles of natural justice i.e. the right to be heard is to be provided and accordingly, the matter had to be substantially adjudicated by the appellate authority. Therefore, if the impugned order of the Ld. CIT(Appeals)/NFAC is an ex-parte order, the only recourse in conformity with the aforesaid judicial pronouncement is to remand the matter back to the file of the Ld. CIT(Appeals)/NFAC for fresh adjudication in terms with the principles of natural justice providing one final opportunity to the assessee.

10. In the aforesaid case, the Hon'ble High Court of Bombay had referred to a judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Delhi Transport Corporation vs. DTC Mazdoor Union AIR 1999 SC 564, wherein the Supreme Court inter-alia held that Article 14 guarantees a right of hearing to a person who is adversely affected by an administrative order. The principle of audi-alteram partem is a part of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. In light of such decision, the petitioner ought to have been granted an opportunity of being heard which, partakes the characteristic of the fundamental right under Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

11. The Hon'ble High Court of Bombay in the aforesaid case had referred to a decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Commissioner of Income Tax Madras v. Chenniyappa Mudiliar 1969 1 SCC 591, wherein the Supreme Court in interpreting the section 33(4) of the Income Tax Act, 1922 has held that the appellate tribunal was bound to give a proper decision on question of fact as well as law, which can only be done if the appeal is disposed off on merits and not dismissed owing to the absence of the appellant. Reverting to the facts of the present case the grounds of appeal were simply filed before the Ld.CIT(Appeals) they were not substantiated or corroborated through submissions and filing of documentary evidences since the assessee had not complied before the Ld.CIT(Appeals) on the dates of hearing. Therefore, as per framework of the Act there must be adjudication on merits by the first appellate authority and one final opportunity be provided to the assessee to represent his matter on merits in the interest of natural justice.

12. There may even be a situation where the Ld. Counsel for the assessee may assail a legal ground before the Tribunal following the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of National Thermal Power Company Ltd. Ltd. Vs. CIT (1998) 229 ITR 383 (SC) with a contention that irrespective of the order of the Ld. CIT(Appeals) being ex-parte, the Tribunal may decide the legal issue that has been raised by the Ld. Counsel. In our view, the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of National Thermal Power Company Ltd. Ltd. Vs. CIT (supra) provides that any legal issue which goes to the root of the matter and is established through legal principles, the assessee can take up and raise such legal issue at any appellate forum irrespective of whether the assessee had raised such legal issue at the sub-ordinate level or not, however, it always depends on facts and circumstances of each case whether the Tribunal would decide the legal ground or in a case where the question is of natural justice and ex-parte order by the Ld. CIT(Appeals) the Tribunal would remand it back to Ld.CIT(Appeals) providing final opportunity to a bonafide assessee. The Tribunal as the highest fact finding authority must be certain enough that the impugned order before it has been passed on merits and is a speaking order where the assessee has also complied during the process of litigation. In case, where the order of the Ld. CIT(Appeals) itself is ex-parte and some legal ground is raised and if the Tribunal decides such legal ground where in fact principles of natural justice is left unanswered due to the fact that the impugned order before the Tribunal is ex-parte and there was no compliance by the assessee in such scenario the Tribunal would also be usurping the power of the Ld. CIT(Appeals) which is also a statutory authority as per the Act. This is due to the reason that as per framework of the Act, Ld.CIT(Appeals) is the first appellate authority where an appeal by assessee it would be substantially decided through a speaking order by the Ld.CIT(Appeals). When this part is over and either party is aggrieved second appeal lies before the ITAT. Now if for every ex-parte order passed by the Ld. CIT(Appeals), of course due to non-compliance by the assessee, if the Tribunal adjudicates a legal ground, for instance validity of assessment or reassessment order and answers it in favour of the assessee then it would create an easy route for assessee getting redressal from Tribunal even without bothering to comply with hearing notices before the Ld. CIT(Appeals). This would dismantle the structure of the Act which is definitely not the intention of the legislature. Here in this situation, where the benefit of doubt is given to the assessee since he had not complied with the hearing notices before the Ld. CIT(Appeals) which resulted in passing of an ex-parte order by the Ld. CIT(Appeals), in such scenario, as per the scheme of the Act and following the principles of natural justice, the only course of action is to remand the matter back to the file of the Ld. CIT(Appeals) for adjudication on merits providing one final opportunity to the assessee.

13. In view thereof, we set aside the respective orders of the Ld. CIT(Appeals) for all the years and remand the same to their file for denovo adjudication on merits. At the same time, we direct the assessee that this being the final opportunity, there must be compliance on merits before the first appellate authority. Needless to say, the Ld. CIT(Appeals) shall provide reasonable opportunity of being heard to the assessee and pass an order in terms of Section 250(4) and (6) of the Act within three months from receipt of this order.”

6. Respectfully following the aforesaid decision on the same parity of reasoning and as per similar terms, I set-aside the order of the Ld. CIT(A)/NFAC and remand the matter back to its file for denovo adjudication while complying with the principles of natural justice. At the same time, it is directed that this being the final opportunity, the assessee shall duly comply with the hearing notices from the office of Ld.CIT(A)/NFAC and represent his matter on merits. The Ld.CIT(A) /NFAC shall accordingly pass order in terms with Section 250(4) & (6) of the Act.

7. As per the above terms, the grounds of appeal raised by the assessee stands allowed for statistical purposes.

8. In the result, the appeal of the assessee is allowed for statistical purposes.

Order pronounced in open court on 25th day of November, 2025.
